New “PhotoImpro” Will Enhance Your Digital Memory-keeping Experience!

An all-in-one imaging suite from AmitySource lets you browse, view, organize, edit and share your digital photos and images with a remarkable ease

AmitySource LLC today announces the release of version 1.3.1 of PhotoImpro. Primarily aimed at digital camera owners, PhotoImpro combines the functionalities of an image browser, viewer, organizer and editor, which are all delivered in a nice-looking and fully-customizable user interface. PhotoImpro’s customers will gain a wide range of abilities to restore and adjust photos, elaborate them using over 50 filters and effects, fix common photography problems like red-eye, share their digital memories with loved ones via printing, burning photos onto CDs, or publishing them online, and organize them for quick retrieval and viewing.

Enjoy Quick Browsing and Retrieval

With PhotoImpro in place, you gain a browser, which is extremely convenient for browsing through photos, sorting and organizing them. You can easily browse through folders with images and immediately view the thumbnails of photos located in each of them. Clicking on any thumbnail opens it in the preview pane. A double-click on a photo opens it in the built-in viewer. The viewer can display a single image or a group of images in a sequential order. To let you better organize photos, PhotoImpro lets you use virtual folders and the rating system.

Powerful Editing Option at Your Fingertips

Some photos capture a moment that can never be repeated. If there are some defects in your photo, PhotoImpro can help you remove them, saving your precious memories for a lifetime of enjoyment. You can improve photos by applying image adjustments like color correction, brightness, contrast, desaturation and others. Photos with too much noise can be restored with the denoise option. If a photo is blurred or unfocused, the focus corrector can remove these defects. And, of course, there is the red-eye remover to make faces look friendlier!

Share Photos with Family, Friends and Anyone Else

PhotoImpro gives you many options to share photos. You can use it to create a nice-looking HTML album with a fully customizable layout, thumbnails, background, and buttons. There is also a web sharing module for sharing photos on the web sharing service available to anyone for free at <http://www.sharemyshot.com>. As an alternative, you can use the built-in CD/DVD burner to burn photos onto CD disks. Additionally, photos can be printed on paper. If there are many of them, PhotoImpro will automatically arrange them on a single sheet of paper. Simply specify sizes, border, and crop settings, the program does the arrangement automatically.
